Wholesale Markets Invaded Textile Manufacturers Figure By Retailers Seeking Bargains

Buyers Anticipating Wants for Next Two Months; Ready Cash Plays Part in Inducing Price Cuts

A considerable quantity of all kinds of goods handled in department stores and specialty shops is being ordered this week for delivery within the next sixty days by merchants from all sections of the country who are here on their fall buying trips.

Some of the largest department stores in the country are now actively ngaged in making merchandising preprations for the next month or two. The bulk of the buying, according to The bulk of the buying, according to wholesalers in various lines, is centered on goods destined for sale to consumers in the next few weeks. Many of the retailers are seeking bargain merchandise with which to conduct sweeping "clearance" or other cut price sales in August, which normally is a dull menth, coming in the lull between summer and fall trade.

One large store from the Middle West has twenty buyers in the market. In the past three days these buyers have been visited by representatives of more than 5,000 manufacturers and wholesalers, according to the statement of an executive of the store's New York office.

any duty placed on hides naturally will aid the packer and tanners in creating a monopoly on the leather business. They have become so strong a factor in the business in the last few years that it would be a grave economical mistake, in my estimation, to take hides and leather from the free in emphatic terms, and I believe I am voicing the sentiments of the manufacturers of shoes and leather products and of the people engaged in their production and of the general public. I am in sympathy with legislation beneficial to the farmers, but a duty on hides would in no way help them, as they do not sell hides. They sell live cattle, the price of which is ohen, Isadore M.—Manhattan Motors Corp.

Textile Manufacturers Figure on This Garment in New Season's Plans

The future of the jumper or guimpe dress craze, which was started some months ago by a leading Fifth Avenue specialty shop and which has since swept over the country, is a matter of speculation in retail, garment manufacturing and textile circles in general. On the whole, however, those interested in these lines of business feel ested in these lines of business feel

On the whole, however, those interested in these lines of business feel that the style will carry through the fall and into next spring. Garment manufacturers are bringing out the jumper dress in more elaborate patterns and are constantly adapting a wider range of fabrics to the production of this type of garment. Many waist manufacturers have quickly saifted seme of their production to the jumper dress, and the pattern companies have been working overtime to supply the demand for patterns to be used in home sewing.
